Dear Admissions Committee,

This serves as a recommendation letter for Anna, who has applied for admission to your Sociology Program. I am honored to recommend Ms. Anna having known her from the first year of her high school. Throughout her stay in our institution, I have been guiding and helping her with all academic honors and projects. As such, I would rank her among the top three students that I have taught about her exemplary performance in projects and other extra-curriculum activities. Ms. Anna is among the exceptional students that I have met in my twenty years of teaching experience in high school.

In particular, Anna was one of the best students having graduated with a Grade Point Average of 4.85 out of the possible 5. This was attributed to her high intelligent and excellent communication skills. Her written pieces depicted clarity and accuracy mastering of the English subject. I was not surprised to realize that she was ranked the third best student in city Olympiad English competition. During this competition, judges argued that she demonstrated oral articulateness in all the discussion sessions that formed significant grounds to consider when deliberating on the student's performance. In each discussion session, every student was expected to demonstrate his or her critical thinking skills in finding solutions to a given ethical dilemma. In this context, she analyzed difficult moral situations to develop and defend her ethical perspectives about the situation in questions. Anna showed her proficiency in applying the skills she had learned in analyzing moral and ethical problematic situations. She always explained her opinions clearly and concisely by giving supporting arguments and evidence that were clear and persuasive. In all the discussion she participated, Anna demonstrated the ability to work as a team.

Ms. Anna demonstrated her outstanding leadership skills in her position as the group leader of the Legal Studies Class. As such, she earned great honor and respect of both her colleges and teachers. Anna's leadership skills were evident in her ability to initiate group discussions and liaising with the head teacher in organizing motivation sessions with guest speakers from various Universities. As her teacher, I was not surprised to find out that she was crowned as the second best student in the unit entitled "Fundamentals of Legal Studies."

It is would also be worth mentioning that Anna has an interest in extra-curriculum activities. To be precise, she has a talent in dancing. Most of her colleges and teachers described her as "all rounded" because her academic performance was rapidly improving despite missing most classes to attend a music festival. On several occasions, Ms. Anna told me that she believe in her capacity and ability to acquire new dancing skills and improve her performance through practice. In most of my P.E lessons, I gave her an opportunity to inspire her classmates to adopt this treasured perspective. As a result, Anna contributed much in motivating her peers to join the school music club making our school more competitive countrywide. In recognition of her skills and passion in dancing, Anna was crowned as the best young talented dancer in two Republican music festivals. As her teacher, it was incredible to witness her fulfilling this kind of extra-curriculum and personal progress.

Nevertheless, Anna is a sharp and perceptive individual with a high propensity for Science including Physics and Math. She is self-driven to understanding principles behind the various phenomenon. One of such areas of her interest was the forces that hold the universe together and how the frequencies of the sound are absorbed. These interests, driven her to conduct scientific studies on the subject "World" that she presented in International Young Scientists Contest and rewarded as the second best student. Additionally, Anna has a great capacity to develop the relationship between the past and present (History) based on her knowledge on current issues. She never depends on simple explanations but prefers inducing the argument or starting with a broad answer or an explanation and then narrowing it down to make it concise and clear. For instance, in History and Law contests, Ms. Anna proved inefficient of significant treaties such as Non-proliferation Treaty by pointing out the concerns about threats and obstructions against humanity as well as nuclear safety that criminal groups take nowadays. This shows Anna's understanding and skills for critical analysis of World History and Law which can potentially prompt civil rights activists to works towards ensuring social equity.

Ms. Anna has also assisted primary school children of various schools in English and Art. In particular, she helped them understand English words through visual illustrations. As a result of his incredible sacrifices in National testing activities, she was rewarded by the Ministry of Education of the Republic of Kazakhstan. She has also visited and assisted Veterans of Eastern Front and will be participating as a volunteer for National Winter Universiade next year. These series of events depict Ms. Anna as a sensitive, insightful, and self-driven individual to explore societal structures, Art, and deeply understand the human condition which makes her fit for your Sociology program.

I highly recommend Ms. Anna for admission to your University particularly for a degree program in Sociology or Criminology which she has a great passion for pursuing and excelling. She has also revealed excellence in most of the activities she participated including collaborating with others, teaching and organizing motivation talks to mention a few. Ms. Anna's curiosity together with her willingness to do extra research on difficult circumstances she faces eliminates any doubt to her growth and achievement in your institution and behold.
